“ It's taken me a bit to share a memory of Barb because just to hear her name has brought me to tears. Fortunately for my family, the sobbing has been reduced to tearing up at her memory. So hard to believe she is gone. Barb was the puzzle piece or rather puzzle pieces to many unsolved puzzles in my life. She taught me so much from the beginning of our relationship. She became the mentor I'd always longed for in high school. God however has his own timing for her coming and going. She was a leader that led w/ humor and patience. She always maintained a level head, never flustered, and just took charge. What I will miss the most is the laughter, our conversations that could last for a long time whether on the phone or in person. As I sat w/ her at the hospital in her final months, we cried, we laughed and we enjoyed each other's company not knowing that it would be the last time we saw each other. I've had to come to grips that I can't call to recommend a book, a movie, a joke but I still talk to her. A friend recently told me that we are each placed on this earth to do a job and that I can rest assured from my stories that her job was well done. So, I reflect on the verse.. 'Well done, good and faithful servant! You have been faithful with a few things; I will put you in charge of many things. Come and share your master's happiness!' Matthew 25:23. Farewell Barb, enjoy the fruits of your labor.
