“ Clarence "Bud" Hockett is my Grandpa. My family and I would go over to his and my Grandmas house every Sunday and have donuts and soda and if we were lucky we'd sneak a sip of alcohol from their bar located in the basement. When I was in the seventh grade I did my family heritage presentation project on my Grandfather's time in the Military. Specifically the Navy, which he loved. He retired from the Navy as Chief Petty Officer. He had big hands. His white hair was always styled as if it was 1940 and a white mustache. I remember Grandpa smoking cigarettes by the kitchen fan and maybe not everybody likes the smell of cigarettes smoke...but I love it because it reminds me of my Grandpa ( and Grandma). He was wise and caring and his laugh will forever remain in my memory.

Until I see you again.

I love you and we all miss you.

Love Abby.
