

Donald Edward Birrer

October 25, 1929 - April 1, 2023

Donald Birrer, age 93, of Vancouver, Washington, passed away peacefully at his home in the company of his wife, Ngoc Birrer, on April 1st, 2023. He is predeceased by his son Donald Birrer Jr., and is survived by his wife Ngoc, his children Cathy Weaver, Scott Birrer, and Kelly Manning, seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. He was greatly loved as a husband, father, and grandfather. His wife is thankful for the many years they had together, and his family is grateful for the full life he lived. Donald will be fondly remembered for his practical, no-nonsense advice, for how he always showed he cared by offering to go get a meal together, for endless stories from his days as a longshoreman and farmer, and so much more. Graveside memorial services will be held at 10:30am on Monday, April 10th, at Evergreen Memorial Gardens in Vancouver, Washington.

“ I remember as a small child, I would follow Uncle Don around his property from the garage to shop and back while he was trying to do his chores. 💕💕

“ I have so many memories of Grandpa Don, all through my life, that it's hard to pick what to share. It was always obvious he cared when I talked to him, or listened to him speaking with other family members. He meant it when he asked, "How're you doing?" It wasn't just small talk, he wanted to know. So, I'm doing alright, grandpa. I'm going to miss you an awful lot, though.

“ Anytime you went to visit dad either at the farm or at his house he would welcome you with that wonder friendly voice of his. You would visit with him for a bit and then he would say let's go eat his favorite place to go was Magraths fish house. When you went to visit dad you never went home hungry. I will always love and miss you dad.
