“ It was a privilege to know and work with Don. I always looked forward to hearing funny stories about his dog Jasper and talking about his garden. He will be greatly missed.

“ Don has been cherished member of the Columbia Sportswear Company family. His coworkers and colleagues are so appreciative of his many contributions to the team at the Columbia Distribution Center. After 10 years with us, he was known to many long-time friends and new hires alike as friendly, pleasant, diligent, thoughtful, flexible, reliable, and supportive. What a great human to partner with in work! As we remember Don, we will use his strengths as a role model for our own aspirations.
