Elizabeth Marie LaViolette (née Zybolski)

April 26, 1942 – July 10, 2025

Elizabeth “Beth” LaViolette, affectionately known as “Grams” by her family, passed away peacefully in her sleep on July 10, 2025, at the age of 83.

Born on April 26, 1942, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Beth spent the later decades of her life in the Vancouver, Washington area following the passing of her beloved husband, Jud Paul LaViolette. They shared 23 years of marriage together, a bond marked by deep love and devotion.

The mother of five, Beth is survived by three of her children: Bunnell Fockler (Kathy) of Vancouver, Washington, Heidi Kennedy (Heath), of Ridgefield, Washington, and Bart Fockler of Oakland, California. She was a cherished grandmother to seven—Alex, Zachary, Samantha, Gabriel, Mackenzie, Braden, and JP—and a great-grandmother to one, Darius.

Beth now joins those she loved and lost, embraced once again by the familiar arms that preceded her. Her family finds peace in knowing she is reunited with them.

Thank you for being our mom. We miss you already and always will.
