“Daddy, you were a hard worker. I know that for many years you worked 2 jobs to support the family. I didn't fully appreciate how hard you worked, or how much you did...kids never do I guess. I tried to do the right things in life to make you happy. Half the great grandkids are mine so I think I should be forgiven now for being a teenage stinker.

“I have known Frank from the very beginning days of his relationship with my sister MaryLou. I recall how they enjoyed kissing and sharing their growing love. Frank may have been MaryLou's first love and serious beau, and I think she was made happy by their natural attraction from then until she passed away. I always enjoyed visiting with them and talking to Frank. Beverly and I shared a lunch with Frank a couple of years ago and that is a fond memory for me. Irv Jacob frank's brother-in-law.
