“ For some reason, George's name popped into my head a couple weeks ago. Maybe it was the sight of a red mid-90s Mitsubishi 3000GT - the car he bought and proudly (if not a little self-consciously) showed me one day when I still worked for U S West/Qwest. I decided to search for him today and am surprised and saddened to find this announcement. I met George when he worked for Amdahl. He was one of the customer engineers who helped my work group with the Amdahl mainframe system. I can still see his bearded face and mischievous grin. As others have mentioned, I too spent a few late nights in the computer room with George and his cohorts as we worked on hardware reconfigurations, etc. It was his sense of humor that set him apart and what I appreciated most. I'm sorry to hear of his passing but am glad and feel privileged to have known him. I look forward to our next encounter.

“ George and I were part of a team that worked night and day to upgrade some Portland computer sites in the late 1990s. His wry humor was a delight to all of us. George and I kidded each other as we were dragging big cables by literally crawling under the raised floors of computer rooms. His presence made a very long weekend become a lot more enjoyable. He will never be forgotten. May the love of those around you help you through the days ahead. With deepest sympathy, Warren Otte

“ I met George in 1978(?) when he was a new Field Engineer on the 470-v6 series systems. A start of a long association and friendship. He had a sense of humor and customer skills that were legendary. We had many long nights, holidays and weekends on outages, installs, and relocations. Some pretty, some ugly but he kept the humor level up for all of us. Many 'after action' beers at the RAM in Pullman. At the very end of my career with Amdahl, he was my manager (1997). I went to Sequent and he went to Sun Microsystems some time thereafter, and infected them also with his humor and high energy work. I briefly worked with him there also on a contract before he was stricken with the tumor. He will be missed by all who worked with him and knew him. Miss you guy! Phil

“ Dear George, If you were still here, you wouldn't leave my sight. I'd be with you all the time and spend the time from after school, til it was time to go to bed, talking to you like I used to do. I'm sure you understand now, but I'm so sorry I've distanced myself from you. The way you were was so foreign to me. I've forgotten the good old days. And it breaks my heart knowing something so horrible happened to my favorite person. I love you so much and it makes me so very sad to know that we've lost you. But at the same time it brings me tears of joy to know that you may look down on us and smile. You are no longer in pain, you are free. I miss you more than I ever thought I would. Enjoy your free time up in Heaven while you still can, because when I get up there it's going to be just you and me for the rest of eternity. I love you more than any words could possibly express. And I hope you Rest In Peace. Love, your Grand Daughter, Taryn

“ George, I know that we had our ups and downs but I have always loved you and I am going to miss you always. You made my mother feel so special every day you were together. The love between you guys was extremely special. You have been there for me almost my entire life and I know that sometimes I took that for granted but I have always appreciated all that you have done and all that you have taught me. Thank you for teaching me to have a sense of humor and not take life so seriously. Thank you for always being there when I needed you. Thank you for making me understand that taking chances and following my dreams is always the road to take and thank you for making me understand that money isn't everything and that I will make it in this world no matter what. I love you so much and you will always be in my heart!

“ I had the pleasure of working with George Edgar many years ago and he was both a great teacher and good colleague. He always spoke fondly of his family and had a great sense of humor. He made good contributions in a variety of roles. When I moved back to the Bay Area one of my customers remembered George fondly for account coverage he had provided in San Francisco. My sympathies go to his family. I am sorry for your loss. Sincerely,
Christine Bachman
