

George W. Lockwood

March 28, 1927 - October 4, 2011

GEORGE W. LOCKWOOD March 28, 1927 ~ October 4, 2011 George W. Lockwood of Vancouver, WA, passed away on Oct. 4, 2011. He was born in Walton, NY on March 28, 1927. George served in the U.S. Army during WW II. He was the owner operator of Clark County Roofing. George enjoyed golf and flying airplanes. He is survived by his daughters, Donna Rushing, Ellie Lockwood; and son, Dan Lockwood. He was preceded in death by his wife, Elizabeth J. Lockwood. Memorial services will be held Tues., Oct. 11, 2011 at 3:00 p.m. at Evergreen Memorial Gardens. Please make donations to SW Washington Hospice. Special thanks to Ruby McCormick and family.

Tribute Wall

DA

“ Gail and I are saddened by your fathers passing, your folks were good friends and neighbors, whom we truly enjoyed. Did you know that your dad took me for a flight around Mt. Saint Helens when he had his plane? The only time I ever flew in a small plane. I still remember coming to land off 117th Ave. and flying with the prop feathered (I think thats the right term) and engine idling as we glided over the power lines on approach. I enjoyed the flight though. I remember your Mom and Gail feeding the manx kitty that was living in the field near your old house. Your folks had an old dog house that we put food in near the field and gradually moved it towards their house. In the end your Moms orange cat would not accept the new kitty and it ended up moving with us. We are so sorry for your loss

Don/Gail Adams - October 11, 2011 at 12:00 AM

VK

“ We've never met before but I've herd many stories... All good ones of course ;) I'm sorry your gone but happy your with family & friends & will never know pain again. Ellie, I love you & am here for you... All ya have to do is reach out & touch somebody (call me) Love you & so very sorry for your loss, Dylen (Vanessa)

Vanessa (Dylen) Kimber - October 07, 2011 at 12:00 AM