“ To the family of my friend, mentor, and boss.

George was a remarkable individual.

Losing someone who was not only a friend but also a mentor and boss for many years leaves a profound impact on our lives. The legacy they leave behind is measured not just by their professional accomplishments but by the countless moments, lessons, and memories shared along the way. I would like to share some cherished memories and reflections that speak to the enduring influence of a truly exceptional person.

From my very first day at work, it was clear that you were more than just a boss; you were a mentor deeply invested in the growth of those around you. Your door was always open, welcoming questions, offering advice, and listening with genuine interest. I recall countless hours spent discussing strategies and solutions, and your unwavering patience even in the face of challenges. Your encouragement gave me the confidence to tackle new responsibilities and to grow beyond my own expectations.

You taught me that professional success goes hand in hand with integrity and kindness. Whether it was a difficult decision or a moment of celebration, you always led by example. Your honesty and fairness in every situation set a standard that continues to inspire me and those who had the privilege to work with you. One memory that stands out is when you quietly supported me through a difficult personal hardship, embodying true compassion without seeking recognition. You helped me accept it as another chapter in life, not the end of the world.

As a friend, you were thoughtful and understanding. You remembered birthdays, checked in on us during tough times, and celebrated our successes as if they were your own. Your wisdom extended beyond the workplace, offering guidance on life's many crossroads. I often find myself recalling your advice when facing challenges, your words echoing in my mind and reminding me to persevere with grace and determination.

Though you are no longer with us, your spirit lives on in the countless lives you touched. Your mentorship has shaped not only my career but also my character. As I move forward, I strive to honor your legacy by treating others with the same compassion, integrity, and generosity that you showed every day. Thank you for being a true friend, an inspiring mentor, and a remarkable leader. You will be dearly missed but never forgotten.

“ I love you, Dad, and I will miss you more than words can say. I will miss our conversations, your laughter, and hearing your voice say, “Hi Charlotte, Dad here,” when I missed your call. I wish we had more time together, but I find peace knowing you are now in heaven, free from health issues and reunited with Grandma, Grandpa, and all those who have gone before you.
