“ I found out about Harold's passing about a year ago, and have been stunned ever since. I hadn't seen him for several years since I left the area. He was a good friend, and we spent time together, his wife Lynn, and others, on trips we both won while working at Transamerica. I still have many pictures of those times. It just goes to show that you can't take anything, especially life, for granted. To his family, I know you will always miss him, he had to go too soon. I will always remember his counsel, of which I listened to many times, and his sense of humor. I nicknamed him "Spike" because he was about a foot taller than me. RIP my friend.
