November 2, 1970 - January 17, 2012

Jason William Dorlarque passed away with family at his side at 6:40pm on the evening of January 17, 2012. He was born in Vancouver, Washington on November 2, 1970 to Eva and Don Dorlarque. Jason was a beloved husband, father, son, grandson and brother who grew up in Vancouver, Washington. He had a zest for life with gentle eyes and a kind and giving soul. An extremely creative person, Jason was a talented artist who enjoyed drawing and painting from a very early age. He had a unique ability to capture emotion in works that included people and include intricate detail in mechanical drawings of cars, jet fighters, spacecraft and cityscapes. He also liked building models, including cars and trucks, Star Wars ships, jet fighters, aircraft carriers and submarines. Jason also had a passion for cooking and was not afraid to try different and adventurous recipes at home much to the delight of his wife April. He also loved refurbishing old stereos and had an appreciation for great sound quality and techno music. Jason enjoyed reading about World War II history and grew to be quite a history buff over the years. Jason attended Salmon Creek Elementary School, Gaiser Middle School, Columbia River High School, Clark College, and later earned two degrees from ITT Technical Institute where he gained proficiency with technology that ultimately landed him a position with Hewlett-Packard Company. Jason also assisted with the family construction business and helped his father Don build storage sheds and hang siding on houses in the Portland/Vancouver area. Jason is survived by his wife, April Dorlarque; four children, Kevin Dorlarque and his wife Bekah, Nathan Dorlarque, Amanda Dorlarque and Andr Dorlarque; parents, Eva and Don Dorlarque; maternal grandmother, Eva Kribs; brother Aaron Dorlarque; and seven cousins.
