“ Joan, I struggle with finding the right words to convey what your friendship has meant to me. I am so thankful that we had one last conversation. When I think of you, I see you smiling and laughing. You were one of the best friends anyone could ever ask for. Thank you so much Joan. I miss you so much already, but I know that someday I WILL see you again.

“ Joan, I know you are no longer in any pain and you are with your Mom and Dad. I miss you and I miss all the wonderful conversations we had. You showed me how to be strong in Cancer and to never give up. I'm praying hard for your family now. I shall NEVER forget you and all the love you gave me and my family. You will truly be missed.

“ It was always a great joy to be around Joan. A beautiful, bright woman who loved her family and friends so much. She provided strength to them to help them get through this time of separation by death. She would have stayed longer if she could. She will always inspire her children by memories she built with them. May Joan rest in peace.

“ I know for certain that we never lose the people we love, even in death. They continue to participate in every act, thought and decision we make. Their love leaves an indelible imprint in our memories. We find comfort in knowing that our lives have been enriched by having shared their love. You will be missed Joan.

“ Although Joan will be deeply missed, she lives on in each of us who knew her. We pass a little of her on to everyone that we touch. Her influence is, and will be, far-reaching.
