

Kenneth Dean McCoy

May 6, 1949 - December 13, 2018

Ken McCoy, long time Vancouver resident, died of cardiac arrest. Ken was an optimistic, creative entrepreneur. Endeavors included Mt. St Helens souvenirs, collectible Smokey Bear plates; Elvis pocket watches and Smart Pharmaceuticals. He pursued Break Brand Cigarettes and Columbia Riverboat gambling. Although he never made millions, he never quit pursuing his dreams.

He was a member of the Free Masons and rose to the rank of Worshipful Master. He loved playing cards, talking with people, and volunteering at the Pearson Air Field. He was intelligent, kind and caring.

He is survived by his brother Hal McCoy and three nieces (Debbie McCoy, Patty McCoy and Tiffany Wilson) and two nephews (Mike McCoy and Steve McCoy). He is preceded in death by his parents Lawrence B. McCoy and Rowena Sims Tuttle and his brother Lawrence R. McCoy.

A celebration of life will be held on Wednesday December 19, 2018, at 10:00 a.m. at 1101 NE 112th Avenue, Vancouver, WA 98684. The celebration will be followed by a military service at Willamette National Cemetery.
