“ Dear Ma, Just glad that we all got together to sen for you and Pa last weekend. We miss you very much. Thanksgiving is approaching again and you not here with us. This is always sad to all of us. But we know now that you are not in pain any more. We all know and feel that you are still around us. I heard your voice just right before the nurse pushed me in the operation room. I know that you were in there with me. Love, Soboth

“ Ma, have you seem your grave marker lately? My mom and I made it very pretty for you, and my mom did you asked too. She's cleaned your grave for you. We put flowers in your vase. We also put four pumpkins on your grave, one for each corner. This was because Halloween is coming up. Hope your still watching over us, but still enjoying your life in heaven, or in you other life if you chose that. We still miss you Ma, but we're doing better now. My mom still misses you very bad, don't she's getting better. So, Happy Halloween Ma, and Happy 100th day, I guess too.

“ Ma, You were a very significant part of my life and upbringing. You were there for every single major event, and supported me in all of my decisions. You gladly offered your blessings for every new stage of David's and my life (new homes, new jobs, birth of our children). Thank you! I have many memories that I will cherish of time spent together and conversations. Many of which produced some great laughs. I admired how it was that you could be traditional in thought about gender roles but at the same time, you encouraged strength, independence, and a sense of strong will in us girls. I also deeply admired the strong concept of loyalty, devotion, and family in all of us. In your heaven, I hope you get to do all of those things that you wanted to but didn't feel that you could here on Earth. I will miss you! Love Aleda

“ Dear Ma, I hope you are doing well in heaven. We all miss you, but we are glad that you are at a peaceful place now. No more suffering. No more pain. I pray that in your next life, you can do the things that you wanted to do. You told me that you wanted to drive someday or go swimming in Lake Washington. I know that someday you will, not in this life, but perhaps in heaven or in the next life. \ We will always remember you, Ma--in our hearts and in our memories. Love, Alisha

“ Dear Ma, I hope heaven is absolutely wonderful and that you are enjoying every second of it. I miss you so much and I love you more than I'll ever be able to put in words. I know that you wouldn't want for us to be living in sadness, but instead laughing and smiling at the memories that we all shared together. You truly were a beautiful woman of courage and strength and I promise to visit you soon. I love you always, Ma. Love you always and forever, Lianna Kry.

“ Ma, I really miss you...badly. I dream that I still see you around our household and your still in my heart. Every time our phone rings we still feel like your still using the over-com to call us. Every time I prepare dinner I think about what food you would want to eat. Every time I was feeling sad you always made me feel better and made me stronger. I remember when we took you to the mall and you lit up at at the sight or all the shoes, purses,pants, shirts, and pajamas. I also remember when the kids was young and you let your grandchildren hang on you like a horse...I still see that every time I watch our home videos of the kids. Ma, I miss you and I hope you are forever happy in Heaven.

“ She always included us in her celebrations. I loved the Cambodian wedding ceremony for Dave and Aleda. I watched as she did a special ceremony for them. I was privileged to participate in the blessing of Lily. I always felt bad that because of a bad arm I couldn't give the proper welcome for an honored elder. I was so pleased that I finally was able to do so at Lily's blessing. I will miss her gentle ways. I will always remember so of the stories told about the hardships under pol pot. We will miss you, Grandma Kry.
