“ Perry - If you could reach out to me, I'm trying to research any living relatives of Lesley's & John's (her husband). We were friends of theirs - and had lost touch in the latter years of her life. :(I have some things I'd like to share with any family members (England/France/etc). Please reach out to me via bigskybcs@yahoo.com. Thank you! ~Kim

“ Lesley & John Tetard were an integral part of my childhood! Friends of my parents, they became like grandparents to us - and then sadly - as we all grew up and moved away, and my parents divorced, we lost touch with Lesley after John (Jean) passed away. I am searching for any living relatives of either Lesley or John - as I have some things I'd like to share with them. I'd love to hear from her friends, as well. I can be reached through my father's email at: jhall9569@aol.com. ~Kim P.

“ I met Rae one month before she passed away. But in that month I met a lady who was strong willed (read stubborn) but who also had a sense of grace, and most importantly a sense of humor. I escorted her to a doctors appointment. When the doctor was not looking she would make faces, stick her tongue out, and make the gesture for crazy and point at the doctor. When he looked up from writing his notes, she would go back to being socially appropriate and polite answering the doctors questions. After the appointment she thanked me for taking her out into the sunshine and letting the sun warm up her tired old bones. I am saddened that I will not get to learn more about Rae, and hear her tell her lifes story. I want to thank the staff at Stonebridge for being so attentive, and the staff at hospice for being so kind in her last hours.

“ Leslie, I shall always remember you as a person of warmth and humour. One who combined a desire for things to be done properly with the ability to be personable and generous. My father, who was your agent when you moved to the Pacific Northwest so many years ago, always spoke very enthusiastically of you, and you proved to be great to work with in your final years as we navigated changes in your living circumstances. Rest in Peace Madam Tetard.

“ Lesley was a delightful lady. She was very proper and charming, undoubtedly attributed to her UK heritage, of which she was very proud. I experienced her to be bright, wise and intuitive, qualities I will miss.
