“ What a beautiful memory you wrote about this dear man. Love him so and I rejoice he is with our Lord. Yet I know how much each of you miss him. I am so sorry for the tough days you have walked through. Each day, I know the Holy Spirit will pour comfort on you as you recall the wonderful memories and great missing of him overwhelms you. I loved to hear him banter back and forth teasing you, Frances, and getting a kick out of that! His quick wit, his help working at the church painting when he had the strength to do that. My dad enjoyed his companionship so much. His words of kindness to Larry and me have been so comforting and strengthening. He generously gave his love to us. Love and care to each of you sweet ones. “ It was my joy to serve Lee as his pastor. Lee was a close unique friend. Years ago preparing to host a conference---Lee must have painted every indoor wall and door. Very carefully. Now he has gone to his heavenly home---he won't need to touch up the paint up there. I am thankful for his faith in Christ. God gave him the best woman available to be his wife! Lee and Francis have brought Grace and I so much love and joy. See you on that morning, Lee. I bid you, farewell, for now!
