“ I am incredibly thankful that I was blessed to have a soul like yours in my life. You always looked after everyone's emotions. I remember when I was young grandpa would chase us around the house and you would always save us. You made sure that everyone came together at Christmas, and I still miss how you used to tell me stories and read to me on your rocking chair. As I grew, you played puzzles with me, we played games, and I'm going to miss jumping out from behind doors to scare you. I will remember going camping, riding bikes outside your house and how you taught me to be a great card player. I love you and if I could tell you anything right now, I would tell you that you were selfless love and that when I become a mother/grandmother I will try my best, to at least match the level of affection that you showed all of us... Even though I know, it would be impossible.
