A poem by Mary Elizabeth Frye Do not stand at my grave and weep(1932)

Do not stand at my grave and weep I am not there; I do not sleep. I am a thousand winds that blow, I am the diamond glints on snow, I am the sun on ripened grain, I am the gentle autumn rain. When you awaken in the morning's hush, I am the swift uplifting rush of quiet birds in circle flight. I am the soft stars that shine at night. Do not stand at my grave and cry, I am not there; I did not die.

“ Dear Matty, mommy loves you so much. I miss you so much too. I want to say I'm sorry for not protecting your sweet little heart. You had such a sweet and kind heart as a little boy. I crushed that heart without even knowing until now. A lesson learned and a beautiful soul and life lost. I didn't mean to do it. I would do all of it over again better, and that heart of yours. I did love you so much, always. Lessons learned to late. Never try to teach a sweet heart, with a sour tongue. Tears forever 💔 mom.

“ Mat, you were the jokester for sure. This life was/is difficult to navigate, you went through a lot in your short time here. May peace find you, and fill you to overflowing. Look in on your mom and sister every now and then when you're not too busy. Love ya kid. Aunt Leah.

“ I will not say good bye Mat I will just say I will be seeing you later at your resting place in heaven where we will all unite. I get great comfort and peace knowing where you are and who you joined. Asking God to wrap your family so they may feel the peace that you are now in. You will always be with us in our hearts and souls you went too young but know that was the plan God had for you. Until that glorious reunion in heaven rest in peace our dear dear Mat.
