

Rex B. Dickman

February 4, 2010 - November 26, 2025

Rex Brian Dickman of Vancouver, Washington, passed away at Doernbecher Children's Hospital on November 26, 2025, from medical complications after a series of epileptic seizures. He was 15 years old.

Rex was born in Murray, Utah, to Brian and Kori Dickman on February 4, 2010. At the age of 2, Rex moved with his family to Washington. Along with his two sisters, Sicily and Sophia, and brother, Simon, Rex enjoyed the Pacific Northwest to its fullest. Despite not being able to walk, Rex loved to be outdoors with his family hiking, biking, kayaking, camping, and playing in the snow.

Rex was blessed to be cared for by innumerable teachers, paraeducators, caretakers, doctors, nurses, therapists, neighbors, friends, and family members to whom we are forever grateful. Rex was happiest spending time at school or with his family and his toys. He will be best remembered for his charming smile, subtle sense of humor, and contagious giggle.

Rex is survived by many loving family members including his great grandpa, grandparents, aunts, uncles, and cousins. He will be especially missed by his mother and father (Kori and Brian Dickman), two sisters (Sicily and Sophia), and brother (Simon), all of Vancouver, Washington.

A memorial service for Rex will take place at 1:00 p.m. Friday, December 5, 2025, at the Bliss Road chapel of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Rex and his family were supported by Pope's Place in Centralia, WA. In lieu of cash, please consider donating to Pope's Place on Rex's behalf: <https://popesplace.org/>

“ I had the privilege of working with Rex at Columbia River. Even in the short time I knew him, he made a lasting impact on my life.

Rex had a special way of brightening even the hardest days—sometimes with a smile, a mischievous look, or, of course, that unforgettable giggle. Some of my favorite moments were our walks in the courtyard and sharing our love of music. I will always remember how his face lit up the second he heard “You’re Welcome” from Moana. His joy was contagious.

Rex was truly one of the sweetest kids I’ve ever met. Though I can’t be there in person, my heart is with all of you. His spirit, his joy, and that incredible giggle will stay with everyone who was lucky enough to know him.

“ My favorite memories of Rex involved his giggles. The first, when he’d reach out for my hand and I’d take it, only to immediately go “ugh, slimy hands!” He thought that was funny, the goof.

Second, I brought my colleagues therapy dog to visit Rex. He lit up with smiles and giggles as she licked his hands, sniffed his toes, and laid against his legs while he played with toys.

We’ll miss you so much at Columbia River, Rex.

“ I will remember singing to Rex with great fondness! Whenever it helped, I felt like I had conquered some bit of trouble in the world and he would be happier for a time until we got to sing it again. Our favorite was, 'You're Welcome!' That song will forever have a new meaning to me. Thank you Rex for your sweet smile and giggles~ Rest in peace.
