

Scott Arthur Atwood

December 18, 1958 - November 18, 2009

Scott Atwood, age 50, of Vancouver, WA passed to a better place on November 18, 2009. Scott was born a twin on December 18, 1958 in Salt Lake City UT to Marilyn and Turrel Atwood. Scott is predeceased by both of his parents, and three infant brothers. Scott is survived by his loving wife Mary, two terrific boys Jeremy and Justin and a loved daughter Bonnie Atwood Throckmorton, his son-in-law Chris Throckmorton and grandson Aldan Throckmorton. Scott looked forward to greeting a new little Miss Emma Throckmorton in a few months. His extended family is large, and includes his sisters Susan Thomas, Laurie Allen and twin Janice Beckstead. Scott's life was lived full of joy, loving sacrifice and countless friendships. He was a jewelry manager for 14 years for H & B Jewelry and Loan in Portland OR and owned and operated Atwood Studios. Scott's photography accomplishments were many, but he was proud to capture hundreds of weddings, and two major eruptions of Mt St Helens that are featured in national museums. Scott lived his life to love everyone, and he dedicated much of that to the Boy Scouts of America as an Eagle Scout to standing office in Vancouver in the Columbia River Scout council. He established Troop #456 and was in leadership until his death in Troop #770. Most importantly, Scott celebrated his life every day with his Lord and savior Jesus, who held him tight through illness and escorted him home. Scott, you will always be remembered for your big, loving, gracious and overflowing heart! 1 Cor 13:13. "And now these three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love." Memorial service is at

People's Church, Andreason and Mill Plain Blvd, Vancouver WA on Saturday,

“ One of my strongest memories of Scott was at Jason Lee Junior High School in metal shop. The class was a complete disaster with metal stars being flung across the room into walls and the ceiling, hammers thrown about; constant chaos and havoc. Despite this madness, we all somehow paticipated and most of us managed to complete the class without being kicked out. Scott and Bob Lawson were good friends and both decided to make aluminum camera cases for their final project. Frankly, both Scott and Bob caught a lot of grief from many of our classmates over these cases that they just kept working on and working on. At the end of the semester we all had to turn in our projects. Some made cups, small storage boxes and the like. I made a cookie sheet consisting of a piece of aluminum cut in two. That was about the extent of my metal expertise (that being said, my mom STILL cooks with those!). On or about the last day of class Scott and Bob rolled in with these enormous aluminum suitcases. They were simply amazing just as if they had bought them at the store. I took great satisfaction that they both had made something far and away superior to anything else the rest of the class created and showed what hard work and determination could accomplish. It's a memory that I have reflected on often and will do so now with a greater respect and humility.

“ I forget exactly when he and Janice moved from Salt Lake City (6th grade maybe?) but I knew Scott in school. I remember him best in high school. It seemed like I always saw him and Bob Lawson together with their cameras. I had a feeling he would go into photography as a career. The pictures he took of Mt. St. Helens I'm sure will be of historic value.

“ I've known Scott since grade school. He was a member of my dad's scout troop. He was a sidekick to Eric Aldrich, or was the other way around? I always think of the two of them together. When I remember Scott, I think of him as always being nice, and there's not a lot of us who can say that we were always nice when we were teenagers. He took my wedding pictures as a budding photographer. It is with fond feelings that I remember him. Mary, much love to you and the family. Diane “ Scott was an amazing man of God. I wish I had had more time around him, but in the limited time I did have, it was clear how much love he had, not only for his family, but for all he came in contact with. He seemed to enjoy seeing Naomi and the other little ones almost as much as Aldan. He will be missed.
