“ I began playing Racquetball in 2008 with a friend. Steve watched us for awhile and introduced himself. We needed help and he saw that immediately. He helped me from March 2008 until the end of 2013 when he decided to take some time off. He became the experienced focus of a group of retired gents who just wanted to play for fun. Steve was a killer with his left hand so he played with his right hand. It gave us a chance to lose with grace. Steve was a fine fellow who treated everyone with respect. He was a quiet fellow who everyone wanted to have on his team. 7/11! That was Steve's favorite score. He could play RB any way he wanted. So he would score 7 points while the opposition scored 11 points. Then he would run his score to 15 points. Steve didn't do this with us older gents. He just played for the love of the sport. He was magic on the Racquet ball court and we will miss him. He was our good friend and companion.
