“ I met Mr. Sohma upon my return from Japan after ten years, we both had a mutual life experience moving to one another's countries at young ages. My memories spent with him are cherished memories, I'll never forget when I drove he and his wife from Vancouver to Wilsonville, OR to get a new computer. When I exited I-5, I drove on the wrong side of the road on the underpass, a large truck was coming at me, he was yelling(not really) as his wife was as were the pedestrians that I was on the wrong side of the road. We would later laugh about the situation, he admitted he did the same thing once when he returned to Japan. Mr. Sohma was an extraordinary man, I'll never forget when I saw the photo of him with Governor Clinton at the state capitol where he was meeting with him as the representative to Sanyo, who later he would become CEO of. A very modest and humbled human being, I only wish I had kept in contact with him after i moved to Seattle. You can read his book which he chronicles his early life in the US as Hedda Hoppers houseboy. http://www.amazon.com/gp/product/0972417206/ref=ox_sc_act_title_1?ie=UTF8&psc=1&smid=A30C5UTL788WQU
