“ Here it is, just over 3 months since you left. I still miss you all the time. You'd love where we're staying for work, on the beach in Florida, lots to see and do next to the ocean, our favorite place. You'd be so happy with Fantasy Football this year. We dedicated the year to you and all the teams are named in memory of you. And, as usual, most are pretty funny: AfroStars, Crab Lynching, Wish'n Id Gone Fish'n, Flannel vest - Floral Shirt?, Mutton Chop Blockers, Bruce's Ball Busters, Good Eaters, Wiser's Tomcats, Wet Sack of Hammers and Papa Bear. :-) Just wanted to let you know, you're missed...XOXOXO Shelle

“ My birthday came and went and I thought a lot about Dad. When I was young, he always took my brother and I out for our birthdays to a nice restaurant, which back then was a big deal. He would encourage me to order Steak Diane or Chatobriand. Love them still today. T&R always had music playing in their house. One special birthday he had me over and asked me to turn off the stereo, when I did the music continued to play. He had bought me a stereo and it was playing in the back room! What a great memory and what a fun way to give. Thanks for the memories, Dad!

“ Known to me as "Papa Tom" I think that's what most of us grand kids called him. My favorite memory of grandpa is when he took me and my brother Brandon to see the Mariners in Seattle. Randy Johnson was pitching against Roger Clemons. Grandpa once told me that one of his favorite childhood memories was watching Sandy Koufax pitch against Juan Maricial. I didn't understand at the time, but he was trying to create the same type of memory for me. I'm not sure I every thanked him properly for that, but its in my heart. Some other random things that will always remind me of my Grandpa are: Golden Retrievers (Sparky was my favorite), Crabbing, Canadian Whiskey with 7up, The awesome grandpa hook-shot, properly cooked veggies and most dear to me the way he would always say "Hey, There's my guy" as if he had been looking for me. My newborn son Liam Bruce Wilson just missed meeting his Great Grandpa by a few weeks. He is the fourth of the first born son's with the middle name "Bruce". Love Always, Jared Bruce Wilson

“ One of my favorite memories is driving up to stay the weekend with Dad and Robbi after they bought the motor home. They were camped on Banks Lake for a weekend of skiing, fishing and fun. Don and I got there later at night and it was already dark. When we pulled in, Dad and Robbi were in the motor home, with music blasting and they were dancing. We sat in the car and watched them for several minutes. It made both of us smile, and still does today!

“ Robbi and Kids - Our thoughts are with all of you. My next trip to Hawaii I will remember Tom with a lei. I think he loved the islands as much as I do. I smile when I think my mom has another brother beside her now. I know she's loving that! Love, Kim Berrigan (Lamond) and family.
