September 17, 1926 - April 5, 2017

Y.B. "Jack" Weed September 17, 1926 April 5, 2017 Jack was born in Omaha, Nebraska, to C.F. and Helen Weed. Some of his younger life he lived on and enjoyed his Grandparents livestock farm in Iowa. After attending five high schools with many side jobs, at 17 years old Jack joined the US Naval Air Corp. as a gunner in World War II. Afterward, passing a GED test, he attended the University of Puget Sound in Tacoma, WA, graduating with a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration. Following a few years in log procurement for a paper organization, Jack went into sales, marketing and management in the paper and industrial packaging business. In Los Angeles, Jack met his future wife, Sharon O'Leary, who worked for McGraw Hill Publishing. He thought Sharon was a great beauty and they were married for 60 years. They had three children, Kevin (Zoe), Tracy (Ken) Boal and Thomas (Kerri); seven grandchildren, Jason (Annie), Ryan, Jordan, Jesse (Amy), Lauren, Little Jack and Lincoln; Great-Granddaughter, Avery and another great-grandchild due in July. After retiring, Jack and Sharon took many trips to Europe, Caribbean, Hawaii, practically the entire United States and Canada. They spent 13 winters in the desert; they lived enjoyed the many activities at Fairway Village also. However, Jack's greatest pleasure of all was being with his family, for whom he was very proud. A memorial service will be held at Evergreen Memorial Gardens at 10:00AM on Friday, April 14, 2017 with a private burial at Willamette National Cemetery.
